MODULE 2: UNDERSTANDING FILIPINO CULTURE AND VALUES

- What is Culture?

  The term "culture comes from the Latin word "cultus, which means tilling, cultivating, refining, or nurturing. It is a collection of shared ideas - customs, beliefs, and knowledge learned from others and passed down from generation to generation
- Characteristics of Culture
  - Shared - Members of a group share culture because they grew up in the same culture. However, not all aspects of a culture are interconnected. Some elements of a culture may be diametrically opposed. For example, there may be conflicts between employees and management.
  - Learned - It is not biological - we are not born with culture.

- Adaptive - Cultural adaptation refers to the process of adjusting to a new culture.
- Integrated - All aspects of a culture are interconnected or related to one another.
- Based on Symbols - A symbol refers to something that stands for another thing. Symbols differ and are arbitrary across cultures. They have meaning only when people in a culture agree on their use.
- Dynamic - In our day-to-day existence, new objects are introduced into material culture (the physical objects, resources, and spaces such as homes, neighborhoods, cities, schools, churches, offices, factories, tools, means of production, goods and products, stores, etc., that people define their culture), and they have an impact on nonmaterial culture (nonphysical ideas that people have about their culture, such as beliefs, values, rules, norms, morals, language, organizations, and institutions).
  Culture changes over time due to:
  - ✓ diffusion (the spread of idea, behavior or something between cultures);
  - ✓ acculturation (the process of adopting, acquiring, adjusting, and learning the cultural traits or social patterns of another group as a result of being placed in a new culture);
  - ✓ technology (methods, systems, and devices derived from scientific knowledge and used for practical purpose);
  - ✓ globalization (the increasing interdependence and interconnectedness of the world's economies, cultures, and populations as a result of trade and commerce, technology, migration, and media).

- The Content of Culture
  - Belief - conviction or assumption or acceptance that certain things are true or real;
  - Values - abstract ideals or shared standards for what is right and desirable
  - Norms - definite principles or rules which people are expected to observe
  - Symbols - objects or designs that have acquired special cultural meanings
  - Technology - the field of knowledge concerned with the development and use of technological tools and their interrelation with life, society, and the environment
  - Language - the primary mode of human communication, consisting of words utilized in an ordered and conventional manner and transmitted by speech, writing, or gesture
- Values – refers to individual belief systems that stimulate people to act in one way or another. Values are the community standards of what's valuable or important.
- Filipino Values - a collective term for Filipinos' shared assumptions and beliefs that serve as the foundation for their responses to facts, events, and situations.

MODULE 3: SERVANT LEADERSHIP

- Servant Leadership - A leadership style in which the leader prioritizes the organization, subordinates, or community's needs, development, and well-being.
- Prominent Definition of Servant Leadership
  - "The servant leader is servant first. It begins with the natural feeling that one wants to serve." – Robert K. Greenleaf
  - "Servant Leadership is a non-traditional leadership philosophy embedded in a set of behaviors and practices that place a primary emphasis on the well-being of those being served." – Center for Servant Leadership
  - "Servant leadership is a leadership style and philosophy where an individual interacts with others-either in a management or fell employee capacity-to achieve authority rather than power. The system embodies a decentralized organizational structure." – Will Kenton
- Servant Leadership Differentiated
  - Autocratic leadership is a leadership style that emphasizes individual control over all decisions with little input from subordinates.
  - Transactional leadership is a management style that prioritizes supervision, organization, and team performance.
  - Bureaucratic leadership is a hierarchical management system with fixed official functions or duties.
- Attributes of Servant Leadership
  - Listening – Listening is the active process of receiving and responding to spoken (and sometimes unspoken) messages.

- Empathy - Empathy is the capability to understand how others feel, see things from their point of view, and put yourself in their shoes.
- Healing - This attribute relates to people's emotional health and "wholeness," and it entails supporting them both physically and mentally. As a result, servant leaders create environments that promote each individual's physical, mental, and emotional well-being.
- Self-awareness - the ability to be aware of one's own feelings, thoughts, and actions. Knowing your strengths and weaknesses and soliciting feedback from others can help you become more self-aware.
- Persuasion - Persuasion is convincing others to change their minds, make a commitment, or take action.
- Conceptualization - This attribute refers to your ability to dream big dreams or see beyond day-to-day realities to the bigger picture.
- Foresight is the ability to foresee what will happen in the future by learning from past experiences, identifying what is happening now, and understanding the consequences of your decisions.
- Stewardship entails accepting responsibility for your team's actions and performance and holding team members accountable for their roles in your organization.
- Commitment to the growth of the people - Servant leaders are dedicated to the personal and professional growth of all members of their teams. To develop your people, use Training Needs Assessments to understand their developmental needs and provide them with the necessary skills to do their jobs effectively. Find out their personal goals and see if you can assign them projects or tasks that will help them achieve them.
- Building Community - The final attribute of servant leadership is to foster a sense of community within your organization and allow team members to bond or develop camaraderie. You can accomplish this by regularly hosting team-building activities that allow your subordinates to interact with one another across the organization.

MODULE 4: Citizenship and Citizen-Voter's Education

- Citizenship - refers to the legal relationship between an individual and the state to which the individual owes allegiance and is entitled to its protection
- Four Dimension of Citizenship
  - Political Dimension is concerned with one's political rights and responsibilities in relation to the political system. This dimension requires knowledge of the political system and the promotion of democratic attitudes and participatory skills.
  - Social Dimension is concerned with individual behavior in society and necessitates some level of loyalty and solidarity. This dimension requires social skills and knowledge of social relations in society.
  - Cultural Dimension refers to a sense of shared cultural heritage. Learning about cultural heritage, history, and basic language skills and competence is necessary to develop this cultural dimension.
  - Economic Dimension concerns an individual's interaction with labor and consumer markets. It includes the right to work as well as a subsistence level. Financial knowledge and vocational training are essential for achieving this dimension.
- Citizen Differentiated
  - A citizen is someone who has full civil and political rights in a democratic country and is protected both inside and outside the state's territory.
  - An alien, also called a foreigner, is a citizen of one country who resides in or visits another country.
  - The term national refers to an individual's country of origin or birthplace. Nationality refers to your connection to your place of birth and is frequently associated with race or ethnicity. It is unchangeable because it is innate.
  - The term subject refers to a person who is a citizen of a monarchical state and has legal standing equal to that of a citizen.
- Factors of Citizenship
  - Citizenship by family (jus sanguinis); a legal rule that states that a child's citizenship is determined by his or her parents' citizenship.
  - Citizenship by birth (jus soli); a legal rule that a child's citizenship is determined by his or her place of birth.
  - Citizenship by marriage (jus matrimonii); a person becomes a naturalized citizen by marrying someone who has citizenship.

- Naturalization; the act of granting an alien the status of a national in a given state; it can be done through voluntary application, special legislative direction, marriage to a citizen, or parental action.
- Birth/adoption. An individual is born or adopted as a minor to a citizen parent.

- Civic Responsibilities of a Good Citizen
  - ✓ Owing allegiance to the state.
  - ✓ Obeying the laws.
  - ✓ Paying taxes.
  - ✓ Defend the security of the State.
- Suffrage - refers to the right and obligation of qualified citizens to participate in society by voting in elections. Suffrage is the most powerful tool voters have for ensuring the accountability of their leaders, as voters can shift power away from incumbents when they are dissatisfied with their political leadership.
- Documents That Support Our Voting Rights
  - Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR)
  - International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights
  - 1987 Philippine Constitution
- Republic Act No. 9189 - The Overseas Absentee Voting Act
- Voter's Qualification

  - resided in the Philippines for at least one year
  - at least six months in the city, municipality or municipal district where the proposes to vote for immediately preceding the election.
  - Any person who cannot read and write or who is physically unable to write his application for registration but who possesses all the qualifications of a voter and none of the disqualifications may register in the manner hereinafter prescribed. (PD No. 1187, 1997)
- Voter's Disqualification

  Section 5 of Presidential Decree No. 1187 states that the following individuals are ineligible to register:
  - Any person who has been sentenced by final judgment to suffer imprisonment for not less than one year, such disability not having been removed by plenary pardon; provided, however, that any person disqualified to vote under this paragraph shall automatically reacquire the right to vote upon expiration of ten years after service of sentence unless during such period, he shall have been sentenced by final judgment to suffer an imprisonment of not less than one year.
  - Any person who has been adjudged by final judgment by competent court or tribunal of having violated his oath of allegiance to the Republic of the Philippines.
  - Insane or feeble-minded persons.
  - Persons suffering temporary special disqualifications from exercising the right of suffrage in accordance with existing law.
- Voter Fraud – also known as vote rigging, refers to deliberate, illegal actions taken to alter, manipulate, or force the outcome of an election - either by decreasing or increasing the votes for a specific candidate or choice.

MODULE 5: Good Governance & Anti-Corruption

- Governance refers to the capacity to get the things done through the development of strategies, use of instruments to guide and steer governing processes.
- Good governance refers to the political and institutional processes and outcomes required to achieve development goals.
- Characteristic of Good Governance
  - Participation. This requires people, particularly the marginalized, to be involved in decisions that affect their lives or to have direct or representative access to government systems.
  - The rule of law. This is displayed by impartial legal systems that protect all citizens' human rights and civil liberties, especially the most vulnerable.
  - Transparency. It is the quality of doing things openly and without secrets. It operates in such a way that others can easily see what actions are performed. Transparency implies openness, communication, and accountability.
  - Responsiveness. It is the ability to respond to stakeholders, particularly in a timely and positive manner.

- Consensus Oriented. This entails mediating competing interests to reach a broad agreement on what is best for the group and, where possible, policies and procedures.
- Equity and Inclusiveness. These are highly dependent on ensuring that all community members, particularly marginalized individuals and groups, are not excluded from the mainstream of governance and are empowered to maintain or improve their well-being.
- Effectiveness and Efficiency. Efficiency is the ability to achieve a desired result with the least amount of time, effort, and resources expended. On the other hand, effectiveness is defined as the ability to produce a better result, one that adds more value or achieves a better result.
- Accountability. This refers to an individual's or institution's obligation or willingness to accept responsibility for one's actions.

- Importance of Good Governance
  - to maintain and strengthen stakeholder trust;
  - to establish the foundation for a high-performing organization;
  - to ensure the organization's readiness to respond to a changing external environment.
- Graft & Corruption - the subordination of public interests to private aims and violations of the norms of duty and welfare, accompanied by secrecy, betrayal, deception, and a callous disregard for any consequences suffered by the public.
- Legal Basis of Anti-Corruption in the Philippines
  - Republic Act No. 3019, otherwise known as the Anti-Graft and Corrupt Practices Act,
  - Republic Act 6713 (The Code of Conduct and Ethical Standards for Public Officials and Employees)
  - Presidential Decree No. 46 penalizes public officials and employees for receiving and giving gifts on any occasion, including Christmas.
- Effects of Graft and Corruption
  - In an organization:
    - ✓ monetary loss employee morale damage
    - ✓ reputational harm to the organization
    - ✓ the organization's focus and resources have been shifted away from delivering core business and community services
    - ✓ increased scrutiny, supervision, and regulation
  - In an individual:
    - ✓ disciplinary measures
    - ✓ employment termination
    - ✓ felony charges
    - ✓ relationship breakdown with family, friends, and coworkers
  - In the Community:
    - ✓ squandered taxpayer money
    - ✓ goods and services lost
    - ✓ lower community trust in government authorities
    - ✓ a disadvantage for honest businesses that do not receive government contracts

MODULE 6: Understanding Disaster Risk

- Disaster Risk - the potential loss of life, injury, or destroyed or damaged assets which could occur to a system, society or a community in a specific period of time, determined probabilistically as a function of hazard, exposure, vulnerability and capacity.
- Characteristic of Disaster Risk
  - Disaster risk is unexpected
  - Disaster risk is unstable.
  - Disaster risk is impossible to distinguish.
  - Disaster risk is unevenly distributed around the world.
  - Disaster risk is complex and constantly evolving
  - Disaster risk is becoming a global concern.

- Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR) – aimed at preventing new and reducing existing disaster risk and managing residual risk, all of which contribute to strengthening resilience and therefore to the achievement of sustainable development.
- Hazard - a process, phenomenon or human activity that may cause loss of life, injury or other health impacts, property damage, social and economic disruption or environmental degradation.
- Exposure - refers to the situation of people, infrastructure, housing, production capacities and other tangible human assets located in hazard- prone areas.
- Vulnerability - the characteristics determined by physical, social, economic and environmental factors or processes which increase the susceptibility of an individual, a community, assets or systems to the impacts of hazards.
- Disaster Risk Drivers
    - Poverty and inequality
    - climate change
    - environmental degradation
    - poorly planned and managed urban and regional development
- Republic Act 10121 – Philippine Disaster and Management Act
- Anticipatory action - enables humanitarians and affected communities to make informed decisions ahead of a humanitarian crisis, saving time and money, preventing displacement, disease, and loss of livelihood, and preserving the dignity of those affected.
- Capacity - the combination of all the strengths, attributes and resources available within an organization, community or society to manage and reduce disaster risks and strengthen resilience
- Direct losses – refers to losses that can be directly quantified, such as the number of people killed and the damage to buildings, infrastructure, and natural resources.
- Indirect losses - refers to decreases in output or revenue, as well as the impact on people's well-being, and generally result from disruptions in the flow of goods and services caused by a disaster.
- Disaster risk management - the application of disaster risk reduction policies and strategies to prevent new disaster risk, reduce existing disaster risk and manage residual risk, contributing to the strengthening of resilience and reduction of disaster losses.
- Extensive risk - refers to the risk associated with low-severity, high-frequency events, which are typically but not always associated with highly localized hazards.
- Intensive risk - refers to the risk associated with high-severity, mid-to-low-frequency events, most of which are associated with major hazards.
- Mitigation - the lessening or minimizing of the adverse impacts of a hazardous event.
- Preparedness - the knowledge and capacities developed by governments, response and recovery organizations, communities and individuals to effectively anticipate, respond to and recover from the impacts of likely, imminent or current disasters.
- Prevention - activities and measures to avoid existing and new disaster risks
- Recovery - the restoring or improving of livelihoods and health, as well as economic, physical, social, cultural and environmental assets. systems and activities, of a disaster-affected community or society, aligning with the principles of sustainable development and "build back better", to avoid or reduce future disaster risk.
- Resilience - the ability of a system, community, or society exposed to hazards to resist, absorb, accommodate, adapt to, transform, and recover from the effects of a hazard in a timely and efficient manner, including the preservation and restoration of its essential basic structures and functions through risk management.
- Response - actions taken directly before, during or immediately after a disaster in order to save lives, reduce health impacts, ensure public safety and meet the basic subsistence needs of the people affected.
